PARTED FROM HIS ACTRESS WIFE, HE TRIES SUICIDE

Frank Wood, Young Virginian. Found Dying in Furnished Room House

SPOKE OF TROUBLES

Threatened Weeks Ago to End Life-Wife's Name Not Revealed.

Frank Wood, son of the late Frederick F. Wood, at one time Secretary of State of Virginia and a prominent Virginia politician during the civil war, was taken from a rooming house at No. 221 West Forty-third street to the Roosevelt Hospital to-day dying from a bullet wound inflicted by himself yesterday

The young man engaged a room in the Forty-third street house four weeks ago. He wanted the largest room in the house and brought with him a big trunk. He told Mrs. Carley Sims. his landlady, that he was a theatrical manager and mentioned the Hippodrome. He paid his board regularly for two weeks and went away every morning in apparently good spirits.

But a week ago he began to drink heavily and neglected to pay his board. Mrs. Sims lectured him, whereupon he "If you only knew what a burden there was on my mind you wouldn't blame me. Why, I feel like committing "Well, if you are going to do that," said Mrs. Sims, laughingly, "don't do it

On Wednesday a friend of the young on Wednesday a friend of the young man called and took him away to a appearance at his New York concerts, was the soloist. She made her debut in the second concerto of Rachmaninoff, Sims that Wood was the husband of a prominent actress. The name of the actress was not stated.

When Wood returned to the house resterday it was manifest that he had been drinking heavily. He went to his soom and locked the door. About 6 webock last evening Mrs. Sims heard a Then a policeman was called who bund a revolver under the bed. Not an had shot himself back of the ear. At the hospital it was said that he

POLICE STUDY GIRL ACCUSED OF PLOT TO KILL MOTHER.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 .- Further action in the case of Miss Mae Otis, arrested here charged with plotting to bring about the murder of her mother, will depend upon the result of an examination to determine the prisoner's mental condition. This statement was made to-day by Chief of Detectives O'Brien after he had seen the prisoner. Miss Otis, who was pale and hysterical, kept calling constantly for her mother.

Mrs. Sarah Otis, Miss Otis's mother was interviewed by telephone at Mauston, Wis., to-day, where she lives. With tective Evens, who made the arrest, that Mrs. Otis was to be murdered by hired thugs upon her return to Chicago Saturday night, Mrs. Otis declared that she had not intended to come to Chicago on that day, had made no plans in fact, and had not been urged by her daughter to come. Mrs. Otis added that she and her daughter were on the best of terms and that she would hurry to Chicago to aid her.
